

Job Opportunity: Be a Change Maker, join our team as Hydroponic Farming Assistant

About Organization

Levo International, Inc. (Levo) is a startup, food security and economic development social enterprise. Its mission is to create food security solutions that create economic leverage to build stronger communities through partnership and innovation. Our model focuses on partnering with communities to identify problems and use those problems to drive solutions. Levo currently has operations in Connecticut, Puerto Rico, Jamaica, and Haiti.

Position

Earn money, improve your resume, gain critical real-world skills, make positive change. Join an organization that is committed to positive change by empowering individuals. This empowerment is integral to our change model. The individual, including our staff, is given the tools and support to maximize their abilities to pursue their own objectives, and the objectives of their community, and contribute to positive global change. As Hydroponic Technician (HT), you will be a critical team member assisting the Farming Manager to maintain and operate Levo's hydroponic greenhouses and seedling production center for Levo's various programs.

Key Responsibilities

- Ensure hydroponic systems are functioning properly
- Perform basic maintenance on hydroponic systems and plants
- Assist to Identify and treat plant pests and disease
- Monitor and adjust fertilizer levels in hydroponic systems
- Harvest produce
- Clean and set up hydroponic systems
- Other projects as assigned.

Qualifications

- Hardworking
- Reliable
- Can lift over 25 lbs
- Can handle outdoor work (getting dirty)
- Commitment to the Levo mission.

Compensation and Benefits

- $15.25/hour, up to 15 hrs per week;
- Flexible scheduling;
- Access to leadership development activities;
- Virtually unlimited growth opportunities.

Deadline and Application Process

- Immediate opportunity;
- Applications available on our website (<https://levointernational.org/join-the-team>)
- Role open until filled.
- Questions should be directed to admin@levointernational.org